

Madesi's fight each other for the right to sit on their rumps with the rest of the council

Earlier this year ramona limon and her mother corina lego double teamed and beat up hattie montgomery to try to get her to step down as the elected madesi band councilperson. Ramona and corina thought they could run hattie off and have their family members, fat matt and jake elmore, take charge of the madesi band. Hattie was pregnant at the time of the beating. Hopefully she and her baby will pull through this ugly incident in good health and with no medical problems—ramona and corina better hope so or they could wind up in jail. Once ramona's boss found out what she did, she was fired from her job as a cop—it looks like there is still a little justice left in shasta county. Now the hill clinic needs to fire corina. Of course the mighty pit river tribal council did nothing to bring ramona and cornia to justice and now fat matt and jake sit in the council meetings acting like they are the madesi councilmen—even though they are not the elected officials. The fact that the council did and is doing nothing to put these four family and tribal members in check does not surprise anyone who really knows just how screwed up the tribal government works. Remember, this is the council that approved paying gene preston and his buddy $300,000 of tribal money for financial services—with nothing to show for it. The council seems to have forgotten that gene also ripped off the tribe the last time he "worked for the people." Another example of how screwed up our tribal government works is the fact that the only people that get houses are those who have family members on the housing committee and council—so much for fairness. On top of that, the council continues to meet almost everyday and pay themselves from the casino to sit around and argue and rarely get anything done. Added to that is the fact that matt and sharon elmore attend council meetings and never take time off work to do so—talk about illegal!

In a what-comes-around-goes-around-turn-of-event for ramona, her husband has decided he has had enough of her b... s... and is divorcing her—even though she's knocked up. Ramona, feeling the need to try to prove she is still desired by men, tried to pick up on the indian rapper that rapped in burney. Because she was retaining a lot of water and looked very fat that night and is a psycho, the rapper decided to pass on the passes she was throwing him. 10 out of 10 indian guys surveyed agree that the rapper made the right choice.

In a not-so-surprising-turn-of-event, sharon elmore, matt's wife, is paying ramona tribal money to teach indian youth indian dances. Given all the negative things ramona has done, she is not the right person for the job or a good role model for indian youth. Neither is sharon for that matter, as she is known for slapping around matt and then trying to help him illegally get the madesi band council throne from hattie. Sharon is also known for directly trying to pressure hattie to resign her council seat by calling child protective services on her and claiming that hattie's house is dirty and unfit for children to live in. When cps checks out hattie's house it always comes up clean. The funny thing about this is that it's sharon's house that is always dirty and unfit for kids—maybe that's why she was seen sweatin to the oldies last month to clean that place before cps arrived.

Tribal members often steal money from pit river casino

The mighty pit river tribal council wants to press federal charges against morningstar wilson for her allegedly trying to steal money from the casino and kick her out of the tribe. If this happens she could do thirty years in prison. Inquiring minds ask, what about those tribal members who actually got away with stealing money from the casino, never faced federal prosecution and were not kicked out of the tribe? If morningstar is locked up and shut out for trying to steal money, then these things must also happen to those members who stole money and everyone knows who they are. They include susan alvarez (who worked at the casino at the time she stole the money and later became a gaming commissioner and now runs the indian child welfare office), sheila montgomery (who worked at the casino at the time she stole the money and is one of randy wolfin's many girlfriends and now works for the clinic), daniel cardenas (number two psycho behind ramona), cecelia conrad (june avelar's wonderful daughter and number three psycho behind ramona) and others. Together these lovely tribal members have stolen over $20,000 from the casino. In fact the council should be prosecuted and imprisoned for dipping into the casino funds whenever they want without getting membership approval to do so. The council gets federal money to conduct business and needs to stick to this budget.

As always, NPRP asks you to investigate the real-life situations presented in the newsletter and happening to your tribe if you don't believe what's being reported. We bet the information you find will be the same as ours, unless the only people you talk to is the small group that supports the many illegal actions of the Elmore's and Lego's.
